

BRAND ANNOUNCES FOR REELECTION

Athens, Ga., April 7.—(Special.)—Judge Charles H. Brand, congressman from the eighth district, has announced for reelection. He issued his formal card Tuesday and it is being carried this week in the newspapers of the 13 counties of the district. Judge Brand has been in congress since the death of the late Samuel Tribble, with the exception of the expired term served by T. W. Rucker. He is already opposed in the coming primaries by Paul Brown, of Elberton, while others over the district are talking about entering the contest.

ROAD BOND VOTE SCHEDULED TODAY

The speaker. He was also an advocate of bonds, but inasmuch as no one had offered to speak against them, the speaker was compelled to recognize another advocate.

Speaker H. attacked.

Following recognition of Representative Duncan, Representative Milner, of Dodge, asked unanimous consent to permit bond opponents to leave the house, stating that this should be granted "inasmuch as it was evident they had no rights on the floor." Unanimous consent was refused and the speaker again declared that his refusal to recognize the opposition was "in the interests of fair play and an orderly hearing of the bill."

Representative Willhoit, of Warren, then took his stand at the foot of the central aisle and shouted: "Mr. Speaker, a parliamentary inquiry." The speaker said to Representative Willhoit that he was trying to secure order in the house in order that the gentleman from Warren might be recognized.

Order finally restored. Representative Willhoit asked if bond opponents were to be denied all rights except that of making speeches. The speaker answered by again explaining his position against the arbitrary shutting off of debate.

Representative Lanier, of Columbia, arose to make a parliamentary inquiry. He said that he did not wish to question the speaker's motives or the correctness of his position, but asked if he or any other member did not have the right to appeal to the house against the speaker's ruling.

Motion Defeated.

The speaker answered that any member of the house had that right after a ruling had been made, but pointed out that the motion for the previous question had not yet been made. He promised to recognize the gentleman from Columbia immediately after Representative Duncan had relinquished the floor.

After Representative Duncan had spoken for 10 minutes on behalf of the bond issue, Representative Lanier made the motion for the previous question, which, when put, was defeated 91 to 71.

Representatives Dykes, of Dooly, an advocate of the bond issue, then moved for adjournment, which motion carried 95 to 43.

Prior to opening of debate on the bond bill, the house continued its action of Tuesday in voting down the Harris bill to increase the gasoline tax to 5 cents. Representative Harris, of Jefferson, the highway bill, asked unanimous consent that the action of the committee of the whole, which voted 101 to 40 against the bill, be accepted. There was no objection.

Representative Lawton, of Chatham, one of the authors of the constitutional amendment, which proposed to submit to the people the proposal to issue $70,000,000 in state road bonds—interest to be paid and bonds redeemed out of the revenue from gasoline and motor vehicle taxes—spoke for almost an hour in support of the measure.

He declared that under the bond plan the state-aid road system will be paved within ten years and that the money will then be available to reimburse counties for the county bond issues they have already expended on the state roads.

"Every time a county contributes either money or labor for construction of a state-aid road, the highway department issues a certificate of indebtedness, under provisions of the present law, which provides that the county shall be reimbursed after the state road system is completed," he said.

Points Out Advantages.

Mr. Lawton quoted statements made by Stanley S. Bennett and John B. Phillips, two of the three members of the highway board, before the committee on constitutional amendments, to the effect that under the pay-as-you-go plan it will take from 20 to 30 years to complete the system. He stated that the bond plan will be completed in 10 years under the bond plan, whereas they will have to wait 30 years under the present system.

He also asserted that with the $70,000,000 bond issue, there will be ample revenue during the next 10 years to pave the entire 6,300 miles of the state-aid system, primary roads with the highest type concrete paving, and secondary roads with lower cost asphalt paving. He said that by using the bond money and other road construction revenue for seven years and by not attempting to retire any bonds for the first ten years, the roads will all be built in that time. He cited tremendous savings to motorists both in upkeep and depreciation of their cars, as well as in convenience and passability of the roads.

He also urged the members to pass the bond issue in order that the counties would not have to divert their own financial resources from the building and upkeep of their lateral roads, as they are forced to do under the present system of matching of county funds with state funds. He stated that "the only way the state allocated to counties is intended for these lateral roads and said that when they use this money to match state funds for state-aid highway building, they are robbing their lateral roads and working an injustice on the great majority of their citizens who live upon them."

Board Reorganization Beaten.

The senate highway committee Wednesday afternoon voted 10 to 7 to advise a bill by Senator Morgan to reorganize the highway department by increasing the board members to 12 instead of three and making other changes. This is similar to the Mann bill in the house, which was adverse several days ago by the house committee on highways.

The senate Wednesday passed a bill appropriating $12,000 to the veterans' service bureau, with a vote of 98 to 18. This is a house bill, but a senate amendment makes it necessary for the lower body to concur before the bill is finally ready for the governor's signature. The amendment provides that the assistant director authorized in the bill shall cease to serve after two years.

A bill allowing foreign corporations to own more than 5,000 acres of Georgia land was recommitted to committee after considerable debate.

A petition calling for a sine die adjournment of the special session at noon Friday was circulated in the senate Wednesday. It was reported that 27 of the upper body signed it.

The house committee on general judiciary No. 1 voted favorably on one bill at a session held Wednesday afternoon, and unfavorably on another. The first provides that counties may allocate their funds under the one-cent allotment of the state gasoline tax to the highway department for use in building roads in the county. Under the bill the county commissioners would be authorized to enter into a contract for a term of years and to notify the state treasurer to pay this fund over to the highway department. The bill adopted was a substitute for the senate bill under consideration.

A bill by Representative Gillen, of Stewart, providing that superior court judges must certify all sales under foreclosure or refuse to do so if it appears that the price secured was not reasonable, was adverse. Robert Parker, well-known Atlanta attorney, spoke in opposition to the bill, pointing out that its result would be to increase the difficulty of securing a loan to the Georgia farmer, as well as to increase his loan costs.

'OLD-TIME' REVIVAL BEGINS AT TABERNACLE

Plans for an "old-time" revival at the Baptist Tabernacle were announced Wednesday night by Dr. Will H. Houghton, pastor, who stated that services will begin Sunday and continue through Sunday, April 25.

DR. WILL H. HOUGHTON.

Dr. Houghton, regarded in Baptist circles as one of the south's strongest preachers, will occupy the pulpit at each service, while a chorus of 100 voices will be directed by A. Douglas Swagerty, well known song leader. The Aida Brass quartet, of New York, well known through the north and east, will give special selections at each service throughout the entire two weeks. Dr. Houghton said.

Between the 11 o'clock service at the Tabernacle Sunday morning and the Sunday night service, 250 interested Atlantans will make a personal canvass of the city to extend invitations to everyone to attend the revival. This unusual feature, coupled with exceptional musical program arranged for each service and strong sermons each night, are expected to result in tremendous congregations at each meeting.

Current events, particularly many questions in which Atlantans are interested, will be taken up at each night's service. Monday night's subject being, "What Is Atlanta's Greatest Sin?" Similar subjects having to do with matters of interest locally will be discussed from time to time during the series.

Dr. Houghton, a pastor and evangelist of many years' experience, will preach at each service under present plans. In revivals at the Tabernacle during the past year he has attracted immense throngs and is noted as a forceful and interesting pulpit orator. Since coming to Atlanta last June nearly 300 new members have been added to the Tabernacle.

Special services during the revival will be sponsored by various classes of Tabernacle members, the Asoka class and other church organizations having charge of services from time to time.

PEACHTREE CREEK BRIDGE IS URGED

of the Peachtree creek bridge will make it possible to finish this important highway at an early date.

Will Cost $31,000.

The bridge will cost approximately $31,000, according to an estimate furnished the board.

Wednesday's session of the board was busy, most of the topics discussed relating to minor paving projects.

One of the most important matters brought before the board was a proposal that the county assume additional expense in connection with the widening and paving of Washington street. After hearing a delegation from the Washington street section in which several property owners protested against paving part of the cost of improvement after they had agreed to cede to the city valuable strips of property in order to assure success of the project, the matter was referred to the public works committee. This committee will confer with a committee of property owners, a committee from the Atlanta city council, representatives of the street railway company and others interested to see if an equitable plan of carrying out the project can be adopted, it is pointed out.

Chest Action Rescinded.

Appropriations recently made by the board to the community chest were rescinded by the board in view of a decision of Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court, who ruled that the city of Atlanta could not legally appropriate funds to the chest.

It was decided to hold a special meeting of the finance committee Friday to take up all appropriations made by the board for charitable purposes. Included in the list of such appropriations was $5,000 to the Volunteers of America and an appropriation to national guard units in Atlanta.

The board referred to the public works committee a proposal to grade Courtland street from Edgewood avenue to Forrest avenue in connection with an improvement program outlined for that street.

delegates to East Lake, Druid Hills and Capital City golf links.

Frank M. Inman, of Williamson, Inman and company, of Atlanta, is president of the association, and will have charge of all meetings. Membership of the association includes over 800 cotton firms, which moves into domestic and foreign mills about 75 per cent of the entire cotton crop of the United States.

New Yorkers Attend.

A delegation from the New York Cotton Exchange will attend. Richard T. Harris, president of the exchange, and John H. McFadden, Edward Allen Pierce and J. Chester Cupia are in the party. Similar delegations will attend from the New Orleans Cotton Exchange and the Chicago Board of Trade.

The present cotton firms represented at this convention are W. L. Clayton, of Anderson, Clayton and company, Houston, Texas; George H. McFadden, of George H. McFadden and Brothers, Philadelphia, Pa.; J. M. Sprunt, of Alexander Sprunt and Son, Wilmington, N. C.; Walter S. Griffin, of Cooper & Griffin, Inc., Greenville, S. C.; Will P. Stewart, of Stewart Brothers, New Orleans, La.; and James L. Crump, of Weatherford, Crump and company, New Orleans. These are some of all the most representative cotton shippers of the United States.

BUCKNER DECLARES PROHIBITION FUTILE

change. Reaction against the unpopular Volstead law is sweeping the country. All but the impractical militant dry champions now appear to realize that if the prohibition amendment is to be made the success intended, the enabling legislation must be changed and more moderate means introduced.

"The sale of beer and light wines would provide a practical solution of the present ills. It would reduce the rigors of unenforceable prohibition. It would wipe out the market for poisonous substitutes and provide the government with a source of revenue to carry the real purpose of the eighteenth amendment into effect."

Vare read figures supplied by William B. Willis, superintendent of police in Philadelphia, showing that arrests for intoxication and habitual drunkenness decreased from 39,024 in 1910 to 20,443 in 1920 when the Volstead act became effective. After then they jumped to 58,617 in 1925.

"Has the population increased that fast in Philadelphia?" asked Senator Reed, of Missouri.

"Not quite," replied Vare, laughingly.

No more than eight deaths from alcoholism were reported in any one year between 1913 and 1920 in Philadelphia. But in 1921 there were 45 deaths and this figure increased to 239 in 1925.

Discussing the cost of prohibition enforcement Vare said $25,000,000 a year is being spent by the federal government alone. Real enforcement would cost $650,000,000 a year, he added.

Law Seen as Menace.

"The greatest such menace confronting the United States is the existence of the Volstead act," said Alfred J. Talley, for five years a judge of the court of general sessions in New York.

He said his observations in criminal conditions there had convinced him that prohibition is responsible for a general break in the respect for law.

"This is the most lawless country in the world," Judge Talley said.

He recited the difficulties of getting indictments under the New York state enforcement act in 1921 and 1922. Out of 1,432 cases handled in 1921 the grand jury dismissed 1,204. The next year 2,318 cases were dismissed out of 2,533.

The foreman of one grand jury told me that the men wouldn't indict men for offenses they were committing themselves," Judge Talley said.

"The grand jury declined to indict except when poisonous liquor had been sold," Judge Talley explained.

Speak Easier, Gain.

For every saloon that has been abolished in New York by prohibition there are three speak-easies, he estimated.

Chairman Means said that aliens were accused of being the leaders in Chicago's bootleg industry.

"The foreign-born on the average is a law-abiding citizen," replied Judge Talley. "It's the son of the foreign-born who is under the influence of American ways who gets into trouble."

Judge Talley read figures showing 10,000 to 12,000 murders a year.

"The conclusion is irresistible that the crime in this country which exceeds that of any other country is due to the Volstead act," he said.

"I believe crime would be reduced immeasurably if the eighteenth amendment were repealed," state this as my solemn conviction after my experience with criminal conditions.

Urges Beer and Wine.

An immediate remedy would be the restoration of beer and light wines, Talley said.

"If you did that, I don't believe the country would give a whoop about hard liquor," he added.

"In my opinion there never can be effective enforcement of the Volstead act even if you put the army and navy behind it. You can't enforce a law that hasn't the sanction of public sentiment behind it."

The spectators applauded Judge Talley at the conclusion of his testimony.

Doctor Urges Edge Bill.

Dr. William C. Woodward, Chicago, representing the American Medical association, urged the Edge Bill removing restrictions on prescription liquor.

"We consider any law illogical and unsound that provides the same dosage for a cold and pneumonia, and that's what the law does now," Dr. Woodward said.

"If you make a medicine," he said, "doctors ought not have any trouble getting illicit liquor," Senator Harrell, Oklahoma dry, said.

"If the doctors ought to join the bootleggers union to get liquor for their patients," Reed observed.

"A patient could buy it," Harrell explained.

"That's what often happens," Dr. Woodward said. "The American Medical association does not countenance violations of any law."

He said he understood that at one time there were 5,000,000 counterfeit prescription blanks in New York drug stores.

There is no question but that the plint of whisky in 10 days now allowed is insufficient, Dr. Woodward testified.

Harrell asked what substitutes had been found for whisky.

"I don't believe there are any substitutes for alcohol," Dr. Woodward replied. "It has certain properties that nothing else has now."

Maxim on Stand.

Hudson Maxim, the aged inventor of smokeless powder and other explosives, next spoke. He said he has had experience with prohibition since the early Maine prohibition failure which he declared was an "absolute and abject failure."

"There has always been alcohol in the blood of the conquering white man from before the dawn of history," Maxim said, shaking his snow-white mane and bringing frequent laughter with emphatic and picturesque arguments.

"I am 73 years old. I have never been drunk but I feel that a drink of liquor when I feel a cold coming on is indispensable and I haven't had a cold in three years because I had in a supply," he said.

"Persons who deny themselves alcohol get their stimulation through starches and sugar."

Maxim gave a scientific explanation of the medicinal value of alcohol.

"There's many a child today who would be dead if his nursing mother hadn't had beer to drink," Maxim said.

Quotation of the word "alcoholic" from the phrase "intoxicating beverages," would under a strict scientific interpretation forbid coffee, tea, ginger ale or anything else consumed in quantities to produce a toxic effect on the system, according to Maxim.

Makes People Brewers.

"Prohibition has made the boys and girls brewers," he added.

"I was in England three months and never saw a drunken man, but when I got back here a man met me at the boat and he was drunk," Maxim said as the spectators roared. "I saw four drunken men here in the first two days I was back, more than I saw in the months in England."

Chairman Means turned his chair around, appeared oblivious to Maxim while the spectators were convulsed at the old inventor's quaint observations.

"Instead of pretty beer gardens we now have hot dog stands at any one of which you can get stuff that would kill even a dog of mine," Maxim said.

PROHIBITION FUTILE DECLARES BUCKNER

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.

Washington, April 7.—Demoralized prohibition enforcement, sagging in corruption and futile labor against the power of the bootlegging industry in New York was described Wednesday by the senate judiciary subcommittee by Emory R. Buckner, U. S. district judge for the southern New York district.

With figures and graphic description, Buckner laid before the astonished senators a story of the failure of prohibition enforcement in New York that stands as the most discouraging picture that has yet been produced in the wet and dry controversy.

Buckner said that prohibition cannot be enforced in New York so long as juries are bribed by bootleggers (fixers) who infest the corridors of the courtrooms.

Sixty million gallons of diverted alcohol get into the New York bootleg trade every year, an increase of 50 per cent over a year ago, representing a sale price of $3,600,000,000.

Alcohol Impure.

Of 50,000 samples analyzed in two years, 98.1-2 per cent were found to contain impurities.

New York police are receiving 180,000 complaints of prohibition violations a year; important violations are estimated at 50,000 a year.

Four hundred arrests a month are made for petty prohibition offenses and in 13 months 500 places have been padlocked for selling.

Enforcement is impossible under slow court methods; it would take a judge two years to try the petty cases dug up in a month.

Inspection of denaturing alcohol plants resulted in a reduction of 300,000 gallons in output in 60 days.

Juries Blamed.

"It has been said that the prohibition laws cannot be enforced in New York because juries won't convict violators," Buckner said. "You can't work up as much excitement over prohibition cases as you can over other cases. But we have found that the cases involving the real big violators are readily convicted. We have found that most of the dismissals come when juries say to themselves, 'oh, this is a little fellow and the real man with the money is being protected by graft.'"

In estimating the total annual sale of bootleg liquor in New York at $3,600,000,000, Buckner figured the liquor at $5 a quart.

"It's $10 a quart out in my neighborhood," Reed, wet, interrupted.

"You ought to know," said Chairman Means, dry.

"I do," Reed retorted emphatically. Buckner said the alcohol squad in New York has effected a miracle in suppressing industrial alcohol which has been sneaked out of some plants through secret pipelines.

"Don't you ever seize any good liquor?" asked Reed.

Contains Poison.

"I don't say the liquor is poisonous but it contains denaturing impurities," replied Buckner. "The degree of impurity depends largely upon the conscience and technique of the bootlegger."

"You don't think a man who would cheat in withdrawing liquor would hesitate to put a little water in it, do you?" Reed inquired.

"There is no chamber of commerce among bootleggers. I have been told that all liquor sold in my district is cut," Buckner answered.

He disclosed that liquor prescriptions actually issued are exactly double the number that are permitted under the law.

NEW VOLSTEAD ACT AMENDMENT URGED.

Washington, April 7.—(AP)—An additional amendment to the Volstead act was offered today by Senator Edge, republican, New Jersey, one of the wet leaders who obtained the present senate inquiry into conditions under national prohibition.

It would permit each state to define for itself the meaning of the words "intoxicating in fact" as used in the prohibition amendment and would provide drastic penalties for persons convicted of shipping into any state any beverage prohibited by such state as "intoxicating liquor."

Penalties proposed are not more than 10 years in the penitentiary or fines ranging from $10,000 to $100,000 or both.

This amendment supplements one previously offered by Senator Edge under which the Volstead act would be so changed as to permit the sale of beverages "non-intoxicating in fact," in those states which had not prescribed a percentage of alcohol limitation in their own state codes.

WHEELER AND COUZENS ENGAGED IN FEUD.

Washington, April 7.—(AP)—While the wet and dry are contending in the prohibition hearings before the senate prohibition committee, Senator Couzens, republican, Michigan, and Wayne B. Wheeler, of the Anti-Saloon league, have developed a real side feud.

Sensor Couzens referred to Mr. Wheeler today as a man who could not testify before a committee of which he was chairman and Mr. Wheeler retorted by saying the senator was a "five per cent beer advocate from a dry state."

The trouble began yesterday when Mr. Wheeler's testimony was asked by a member of the civil service committee, of which Mr. Couzens is head. The committee went into executive session and the Michigan senator put himself on record that the dry leader could not even "associate with" him.

Today Mr. Wheeler issued a formal statement declaring the remarks were not made within his hearing and that when made otherwise they furnished an example of the "childish bluff of boobyhood days." He also mentioned

Mr. Couzens as an "apologist for the brewers," and remarked "a new kind of senatorial courtesy" which would refuse a witness a hearing on law enforcement legislation.

The measure under consideration would place prohibition officers under the civil service.

BURBANK'S CONDITION IS REPORTED 'GRAVE'

Santa Rosa, Cal., April 7.—(AP)—The condition of Luther Burbank was pronounced "somewhat grave" today in a consultation of three physicians called as a result of the unsatisfactory progress of his case.

The physicians were John Galloway and Dr. J. Wilson Shields, of San Francisco, and Dr. Joseph Shaw, the attending physician, of Santa Rosa. They pronounced Mr. Burbank's condition as due to a gastro-intestinal disorder and said in a formal bulletin that "the same treatment will be continued and the patient will be kept absolutely quiet."

ATHENS BANK CASE GOES TO U. S. COURT

New Orleans, La., April 7.—(AP)—The United States circuit court of appeals here today announced a decision remanding the case of Miss Ruth Jackson and Mrs. Anna Scott against J. W. McIntosh, comptroller of the currency, and E. F. Anderson, receiver of the Georgia National bank at Athens to the United States court for the northern district of Georgia. The case came before the court of appeals on appeal from a decision of Judge W. L. Grubb denying the petition for a temporary injunction to prevent disposition of assets of the Georgia National bank to a corporation known as the Georgia Securities company.

The court in its decision here today held that section 5234 of the United States statutes provides that a receiver of a national bank shall be authorized to sell all doubtful assets and may sell all real or personal property of such bank on such terms as the court may direct. Attorneys for the petitioners argued before the court that the proposed disposition of assets in this case did not constitute an actual sale and in this view the court concurred. It is in its opinion that it was evident that the agency was created for the handling of the assets and for the payment of the proceeds to the owners of the assets and as such would not be a real sale as provided for by law.

Portland, Maine, April 7.—(AP)—Declaring unwavering loyalty to the prohibition cause, Republicans of the state, at their convention held on record against repeal or modification of the eighteenth amendment and its supplemental enforcement laws.

The resolution on prohibition caused applause. "We are proud," the resolution said, "of the fact that our state is the pioneer prohibitory state of the union. We affirm our unwavering loyalty to the prohibition cause as expressed in the eighteenth amendment and laws supplemental thereto, and go on record as opposing all attempts to repeal or weaken them. We pledge our party to strict, impartial and aggressive enforcement of these as well as other laws, both state and national."

Rites in Decatur For Andrew J. Oakes, Killed at Home

Decatur, Ga., April 7.—(Special.)—Funeral services for Andrew J. Oakes, 65, of 121 North McDonough street, who was mysteriously shot to death Monday night at his home, were held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence. Dr. G. M. Eakes, pastor of the Decatur Methodist church, and Dr. A. J. Moncrief, pastor of the Baptist church, officiated. Interment was in the Decatur cemetery.

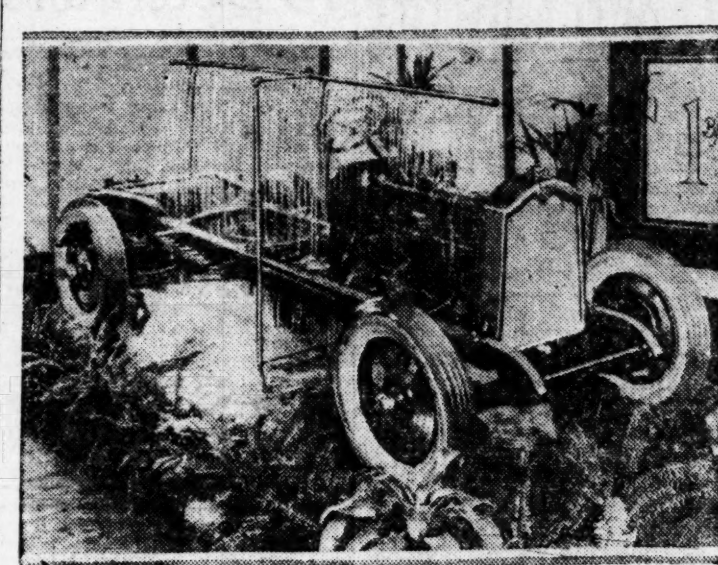

Oakes, after a quarrel in his home with A. G. Maynard, of the Decatur fire department, who, it is said, was engaged to Oakes' daughter, was found dead in the driveway with a bullet hole in his upper left arm. He had chased Maynard from the living room of the home. Oakes drew his pistol and fired several shots inside the home. The coroner's jury returned a verdict that "Oakes was killed at the hands of an unknown party."

Buick Gets Shower Bath At Own-A-Home Exhibition

One of the features at the Own-A-Home show at the city auditorium this week is the Buick "shower bath" demonstration set up in the lobby showing how a stock Buick chassis undergoes a shower bath test while the engine runs and the wheels turn in a shallow tank of water. The engine and all other parts of the chassis were found to be in perfect condition," the official said. "The engine runs under its own power exactly as it does on the road. A length of pipe punched full of holes is suspended over the chassis, through which a constant shower of water plays on the engine, which is kept at the protection of body and hood. "The demonstration is intended to show how effectively the Buick 'sealed chassis' protects the moving parts

Baptist Women Rap Efforts To Modify Prohibition Laws

Prohibition rallies will be held throughout the state on Sunday, April 11, to exemplify the attitude of the Baptist women of Georgia on the prohibition question. It was announced Wednesday following a meeting of the executive committee of the Georgia Baptist Women's Missionary union.

In discussing the matter the committee strongly condemned "efforts being put forth to have the Volstead act modified and to impair the force and effect of the prohibition amendment" in the United States.

Of the four bedrooms, the master's room has draperies of blue and peach-orchid English chintz over point de Suisse. Brightly painted child's furniture is set off by scatter rugs. The two bedrooms on the second floor are done as a girl's room and as a guest room. The girl's room, with its fluffy, ruffy apple green drapes and a slender, graceful bed, dressing table and vanity, is the proper contrast with an embroidered flannel rug.

On the first floor the kitchen attracts almost as much attention for its charming Dutch window drapes for its efficient arrangement of every modern convenience. An electric stove, electric refrigerator and an electric washer and ironer in the laundry room mark this as a house of extraordinary convenience.

WILKINS MAKES NEW POLAR RECORD

BY FREDERICK LEWIS EARP.
(Copyright, 1928, by The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.)
Fairbanks, Alaska, April 7.—Captain George Hubert Wilkins, commander of the Detroit Arctic expedition, is in flight for the expedition's base here after having successfully accomplished the longest sustained flight into the arctic and penetrating 70 miles into the unexplored area of the polar basin.

Captain Wilkins' dash into the unknown region was made last Wednesday when flying over Point Barrow on what had started that morning at Fairbanks as a freight carrying journey, he directed Pilot Ben Eielson to continue northward over the sea.

The monoplane Alaskan, flown by Captain Wilkins and Pilot Eielson, returned to the local landing field at 12:10 p. m. today, Fairbanks time.

"From Barrow, the first few miles on the commander reported, 'we found comparatively smooth ice, then came rough area stretching as far as we could see in every direction, broken up into leads of water on all sides. At 73 degrees and 30 minutes north, flying at 7,000 feet, we turned back. The visibility was good. We saw no land.'"

Perfect Landing Made.
A perfect landing was made at Point Barrow at about 2:30 p. m. Inclement weather and drifting snow prevented the explorers from taking off from Point Barrow for Fairbanks. Captain Wilkins was able to report his safe landing by radio but damage to the generator of his plane radio set cut off complete communication. Fifty Eskimos shoveled a day and a half to clear the snow from the landing ground.

Yesterday morning the flyers made a good take-off and had a fast home-ward trip as far as the Endicott mountains where the wind turned and the Alaskan had to buck head-wind southward. The explorers missed Fairbanks by 150 miles. While searching for the base they saw Circle City. Needing oil and gas they nosed down and landed on a sandbar in the Yukon. After reporting their flight and filling their tanks, they took off again for Fairbanks at 10:25 this morning.

Captain Wilkins' flight last Wednesday carried him 140 miles beyond land, 70 miles beyond the northernmost point in the ice beyond Point Barrow yet reached by man and 850 miles in all.

WILKINS REACHED FARTHEST NORTH.
BY VILHJALMUR STEFFANSSON, Chief Technical Adviser Detroit Arctic Expedition.
New York, April 7.—Captain Wilkins' surprise dash into the arctic unknown is of importance. His reaching 73 degrees, 30 minutes north beyond Barrow means that he has penetrated 70 miles beyond the farthest north in that region. It promises greater results. I am not surprised that Captain Wilkins saw no trace of land. The ocean, 65 miles due north of Barrow, is about 5,000 to 6,000 feet deep.

This we know from soundings taken in 1913 by the Karluk. The Karluk's position then was "the farthest north" for that region until last Wednesday. Wilkins and Eielson went 70 miles beyond that region and perhaps saw 40 miles beyond that point. This means over 100 miles of extension of knowledge into the unknown.

NEW FABRIC IS MADE FROM OSTRICH PLUMES

London, April 7.—The liking of American women for ostrich feathers has brought about the popularity of a new fabric into which the feathers are delicately woven.

The new material is said to be the most luxurious ever offered for feminine dress. It is used as a lining for opera cloaks of ermine or delicate silk. It can be dyed almost any color, but the delicate tints are considered best for it.

While still very rare in both London and Paris the new "ostrich feather" fabric is now being displayed in some of the most exclusive establishments here.

Chicagoan Asks Blood Tests To Determine Child's Father

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Chicago, Ill., April 7.—A novel test of paternity was asked today in the petition of Rudolph Modell, clothier, who requested through his attorney, Charles E. Erbshtein, that a blood test be made of his pretty young wife, Mrs. Marcelle Modell, and of her 6-month-old child, in order to determine its parentage.

Never before in the history of Illinois courts has such a petition been filed and Mrs. Modell's attorney, William L. Kelley, will bitterly oppose Attorney Erbshtein's motion, he declared. However, such tests have been successfully made in California and Missouri, it was said.

The petition was presented to Superior Judge Joseph Sabath and asked the appointment of three reputable physicians to make blood tests of mother and child. Such tests can determine whether Modell was the father of the child, Attorney Erbshtein said. An examination of Modell and his child, or physical characteristics may give other proof that Modell is or is not the father.

The Modells were married in September, 1924, at Crown Point, Mo. Modell later filed suit for separate maintenance, charging cruelty.

Prince Yi Chek, Korean Emperor, Reported Dead

BY RODERICK MATHESON.
(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Tokio, April 7.—Prince Yi Chek, whom the Japanese style the last emperor of Korea, although his reign is not recognized by the Koreans themselves, is reported to be "hopeless," which may be interpreted as dead. His adopted son and heir, Prince Yi, with his Japanese wife, Princess Masako, who are now in Seoul, are indefinitely postponing their trip to Europe and America.

The death of the father of Prince Yi in 1919 precipitated a nation-wide uprising in Korea. The authorities a nervous lot; there he a repetition of this now.

Prince Yi, it is said, has been marked by tragedy, death intervening at every important event. He was born a few months after the Korean queen, his mother, had been deposed from bed and murdered by Japanese and Korean assassins. He was brought in boyhood to Japan, practically a hostage after his father's forcible deposition by the Japanese. His father died on the eve of the day set for his marriage with a Japanese imperial princess, which the Koreans bitterly oppose.

His first and only child, taken to Korea for formal recognition as Korean emperor, died suddenly and mysteriously in Seoul palace while whispering rumors said that Korean patriots had poisoned the baby because his veins contained mingled royal Korean and imperial Japanese blood.

Here is sure relief for Constipation

You cannot be well and happy and be constipated. That is certain. Headache, dullness, sallow complexion, sickness and operations are caused by carelessness and our modern way of living. No laxative is effective that does not act on the entire bowel system. Just the emptying of the lower bowel does not give results. The new accepted way is by taking Klok-Lax tablets at 9 at night. Klok-Lax thoroughly cleans the entire bowel system. Your druggist will guarantee Klok-Lax—in the "gold and black" box—18 tablets thirty-five cents.

WOMEN MAROONED FOR SEVEN DAYS IN SNOW DRIFT

Westbranch, Mich., April 7.—(P)—Marooned for seven days within a mile of their destination, their small sedan all but covered by deep-drifted snow, Mrs. Arthur Webster, of Detroit, and Miss Gertrude Oatman, of Highland Park, were rescued by a searching party.

The two women started a week ago yesterday from Westbranch for Horse Shoe Lake, 21 miles northwest of here. After going a few miles they were caught in a blinding blizzard that blanketed the road with snow. With only a mile farther to go, the sedan ran into a great drift that blocked the highway.

Having planned to stay several days at the lake, Mr. Webster had made liberal purchases of groceries before leaving West Branch and so they did not want for food during their seven days' imprisonment. Thirst was quenched by eating snow. There were several blankets and robes in the car and the motor of the car was started occasionally to provide more warmth. When the searching party found them, only the top of the sedan could be seen.

OIL FIRE CAUSES $10,000,000 LOSS

San Luis Obispo, Calif., April 7.—Three and a half million barrels of oil in the underground storage tanks of the Union Oil company here were burning fiercely late Wednesday. The flames were beyond control.

The loss has already exceeded $10,000,000 and may reach the $20,000,000 mark.

The conflagration, the greatest oil disaster in the history of California's oil fields was started Wednesday morning when lightning struck one of the storage tanks containing 75,000 barrels of crude oil.

The explosion which followed wrecked five buildings and rocked the ground for miles.

Huge tongues of flames reached 500 feet into the air and bridged wide gaps to three other tanks where 2,000,000 barrels of oil were stored.

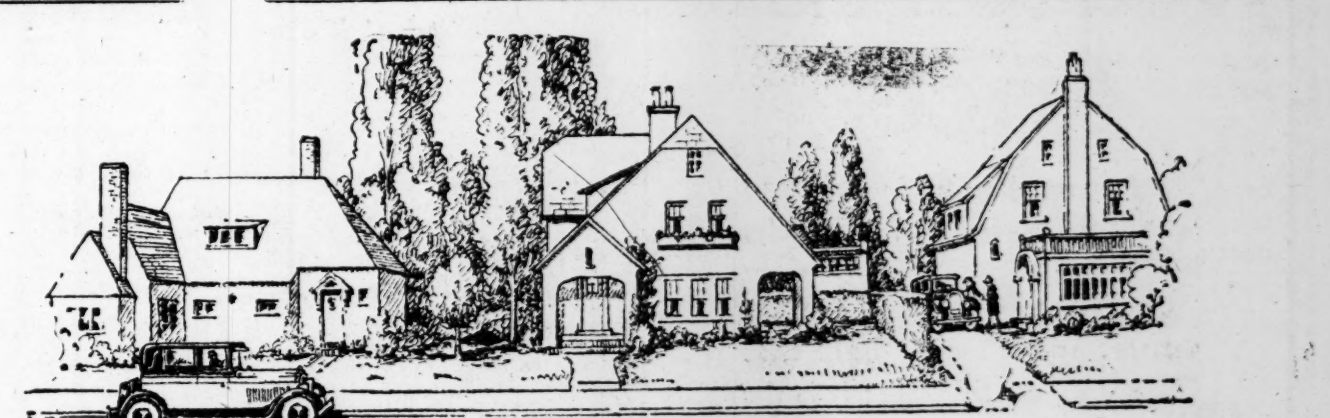

The tank farm is the largest in the world, housing huge reservoirs.

NICHOLAS TO LEAD EXILED RUSSIANS

BY HENRY WALES.
(Copyright, 1926, by The Constitution and The Atlanta Tribune.)

Paris, April 7.—Now that they have got a "chief" in the person of Grand Duke Nicholas, uncle of the late Czar Nicholas, who is going to lead them against the bolsheviks, the white Russians meeting in Paris today solemnly made dispositions to-day to take care of their prisoners.

In a big-hearted gesture, the representatives of 1,000,000 or so refugees from the red terror decided not to be hard on those who have knuckled to the soviet's demands. Once Duke Nicholas and his white army have cleaned them out from Moscow, if certain misguided Russians take up arms to fight for the soviet, it is because the reds forced them to do so, the assembly here decided, granting an amnesty for practically everybody except Leon Trotsky in the name of the "future government of regenerated Russia."

Grand Duke Nicholas in his haughty answer to the congress he led them, put all the delegates in their proper places. He made it clear that he was not accepting the offer to lead so much as acknowledging his complicity in willing to follow, thereby dispelling the ideas of any delegates that they were doing the old man a favor by referring him to any of the other half dozen grand dukes lying around loose just waiting to be called.

Donkeys To Furnish Power for New Ride At Lakewood Park

Barons that during the Southeastern fair housed $1,000,000 worth of the finest blue-blooded show horse flesh in America were being cleaned out and furnished up Wednesday for the reception some time this week of a herd of eight long-eared, mild-eyed donkeys coming to furnish motive power for one of the new rides to be installed at Lakewood Amusement park after its opening for the season April 17.

First information that the donkeys were on route was given Wednesday by Oscar Mills, secretary of the fair association, in response to an appeal by Colonel William Lawson Peel, president of the Atlanta Musical Festival association, who disclosed the fact that the Metropolitan Opera company needed a donkey for Sancho Panza to ride in the opera, "Don Quixote," to be sung here Tuesday night, April 20.

"Donkeys?" quoth Mr. Mills. "Why, we're going to be all broke out with donkeys before Sancho Panza gets to town. We've got eight trick donkeys, prize winners and high stepping, coming in for the park, and Colonel Peel can take his pick."

Journalists Open Pan-American Meet in Capital

Washington, April 7.—(AP)—Newsday, which opened tonight the first Pan-American Congress of Journalists and were counseled by Secretary Kellogg to exercise their influence in the "cause of peace and international understanding."

Welcoming the visitors in behalf of the Pan-American union, under whose auspices the congress is meeting, Secretary Kellogg said:

"To you is entrusted the high mission to interpret the nations of the Americas to the nations of the world to each and every one of them how intimately their interests are related and how closely the progress of each is dependent on the progress of the other. It is your privilege to impress on the people of your respective countries that they are best serving their own interests by contributing to the prosperity of their neighbors."

Reference to the Tacna-Arica dispute between Peru and Chile, but not by name, was made by the secretary in his prediction that progress in recent years in settlement of inter-American controversies might well lead in the not distant future "to a happy unparalelled history of the world—a situation in which every major dispute has been settled by the orderly process of mediation and arbitration."

The congress, which is expected to enroll nearly 300 newspaper men before it closes next week, was called to enable them to study each other's positions and to effect closer relations in behalf of better understanding between nations of the new hemisphere.

They will be addressed by President Coolidge tomorrow, the engagement being one of two the executive has for the day with newspaper men. The other appointment is to lay the cornerstone of the new National Press Club building. The ceremony will be witnessed by the visiting journalists and diplomatic officials.

ALIMONY AWARD PLAN RAPPED BY ATLANTAN

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Atlanta Tribune.)

New York, April 7.—There has been a substantial increase in crimes arising from drunkenness since prohibition went into effect, the national convention of legal aid bureaus representing 25 cities, was informed today by Allen Wardwell, national president of the legal aid association, which is meeting in the bar association.

A symposium of delegates from as far west as San Francisco and south as New Orleans developed that drunkenness cases had not shown the decrease predicted by the dregs.

Leonard McGee, counsel for the New York bureau, declared that such cases had multiplied out of all proportion to the increase in population. The number of cases handled throughout the country in the past year reached a total of 150,000, according to reports.

J. L. R. Boyd, delegate from Atlanta, Ga., reported that only about 10 per cent of alimony and non-support awards were collected in his state and that the weekly installment payment plan was practically non-workable. In discussion it developed that the New York bureau was collecting more than 85 per cent of such awards.

J. L. R. Boyd, mentioned in news dispatches from New York, is general counsel for the Atlanta Legal Aid society and recently was active here in working up evidence to prosecute alleged loan sharks.

Civic, prep school and college bands each will have a division of their own in the state-wide band contest to be held at Lakewood Amusement park, May 3 as the first week-end event of the National Music week in Atlanta. Invitations to 12 Atlanta bands were dispatched Wednesday to insure adequate representation of the city in the contest. Other bands from cities throughout the state have been invited to take part and entries are being received by Mrs. Edwards, chairman, at the chamber building.

Separation of the contest into three divisions was arranged to insure a "sporting" chance for those from each group, Mrs. Edwards explained.

Cooperation of the Georgia division of the American Guild of Organists in the Sunday afternoon concert being arranged by City Organist Charles A. Sheldon, Jr., to open the week, was announced Wednesday by Mrs. Edwards.

SOFT DRINK TAX MOVE ADVERSED

The bill proposing to levy a tax of 1 cent on all soft drinks and malt beverages sold in Georgia was unanimously adverse Wednesday night at a meeting of the house ways and means committee.

The bill was originally proposed as a means of raising revenue for educational purposes but its authors, Representative Stone and Humphreys, stated Wednesday that they had decided that a special tax of this nature would not be advisable regardless of the urgent need of educational revenue in the state.

The committee also adverse a bill introduced at the request of the state revenue department designed to strengthen the enforcement provisions of the tax law on cigars and cigarettes. The bill provided that a dealer who resisted search on the part of agents of the department was, on conviction, guilty of a misdemeanor. It also provides that all cartons of cigarettes, whether sold by the individual package or by the carton, must carry stamps on each package before being sold.

J. C. Davenport, present master. All Masons of the city are invited to attend. Dinner will be served and will be followed by the talks. George Malone, president of the club, will outline progress of the club since its organization.

The car that collided with the police machine was driven by Mrs. Pearl M. Webster, of 262 Cambridge avenue, Decatur, police said.

Mrs. Webster told officers that her car skidded from the street on a track against the police car. A case of reckless driving was made against her.

Mrs. M. Bonz, of 1347 Lucile avenue, was bruised Wednesday afternoon when knocked down by an automobile at Hunter and Whitehall streets, according to reports to police station by Patrolman J. F. Giants and Senators Engage in Season's Final Practice Tilt

H.C. HAMILTON

John McGraw Sees Senators, Giants As League Leaders

Veteran New York Pilot Expresses View of Next Fall's World's Series in Interview on 53rd Birth Anniversary.

New York, April 7.—A Washington-New York world series next October and an era of baseball prosperity which soon will find stadia seating at least 100,000 spectators in every major league city, were forecasts of John McGraw today on the fifty-third anniversary of his birth.

Linking the financial success of the national pastime with its development in this city, the veteran Giants' pilot asserted that winning teams in New York were necessary for continued prosperity of the game. "When interest languishes here," it soon falls all over the country," he said.

"In the light of my experience in baseball, I can see only bigger and better things, with new and greater stadia all over the major circuits.

"Some idea of the growth of the game may be found in the fact that in 1890 I could have bought the Pittsburgh Nationals for $35,000. You could not buy the club for any amount now.

All Are Prosperous.

"When I broke into New York 25 years ago as manager of the Giants, major league baseball was a losing venture. The clubs at the top usually made a little money but at least five others always lost. Now it's a rare thing for a club to finish with a deficit. Twenty years ago you would have been lucky to draw 200 or 400 at an exhibition game in the south. Now at least four or five thousand fans turn out to see a game.

"Behind all this success you will find New York. We took the lead in raising the standard of the personnel. We also showed the way in making better accommodations for spectators, putting up the first steel and concrete stadium in the game.

"I am more eager this year to win the National League pennant. In the American League I expect the Senators to come through again. I have high regard for Mack Athletics but they do not impress me as being as well balanced or as smart a team as the Senators."

'PA' STRIBLING TO DETERMINE PLACE OF BOUT

Macon, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—"Pa" Stribling, upon his arrival here tonight from Miami, stated that he would have a conference with American Legion officials here tomorrow morning to determine whether the Young Stribling-Georges Carpenter fight would be held here or in Atlanta.

It is to be ten rounds.

The Frenchman has agreed to the fight, according to Pa Stribling, and has been guaranteed $20,000 by Floyd Fitzsimmons and Pa Stribling, the conditions being that there must be two weeks of training in the vicinity of Macon before the battle.

While Carpenter's contract has not been received, "Pa" Stribling said that he had no doubt that the fight would be staged in June or on July 4.

The Stribling will leave Atlanta at 7 o'clock Friday morning for Wichita, Kans., where Young Stribling will meet Chick Burns on Monday night.

On the following Wednesday, April 14, Young Stribling is booked for a fight in Oklahoma City and on April 20 he is booked to meet Joe Lohman in Kansas City.

They expect to return here from Kansas City, Pa Stribling said, to get into shape for the risky fight in Madison Square Garden on May 14.

Cubans Defeat 'Bama Track Men

Tuscaloosa, Ala., April 7.—(AP)—A team of Cubans from the University of Havana defeated the University of Alabama tracksters, 59 to 49 here this afternoon in a dual meet of 12 events. Eight of the dozen first places went to the invaders. Alabama scored first in the mile, half mile, high jump and discus, the Cubans leading in the 100 yards, 120 yards, high hurdles, 220 yards dash, quarter mile, 220 yards low hurdles, broad jump, pole vault and discus throw.

The Harbortons brothers were the stars of the Cuban team, dividing honors in winning the century, 220, broad jump and pole vault. Smith and Bruce performed well for Alabama. The Havana team has been practicing here for two days.

CALLAHAN NOT THROUGH, SAYS JIM MULLEN

Cleveland, April 7.—(AP)—Jim Mullen, Chicago boxing promoter, who came here to see the bout between Shuffie Callahan, of Chicago, and Tommy Freeman, Cleveland, last night, said today that the fans of Chicago will not be satisfied that Callahan is through until they see Freeman beat him there. Mullen said that he may seek to arrange a match between the pair in Chicago.

Callahan received his first sharp setback since his entry into pugilism here last night in the eleventh round of a 12-round bout when the fight was stopped by the referee because Callahan had been battered in almost helplessness.

Callahan's recent matches have been a succession of knockouts of such experienced boxers as Bobby Barrett, Philadelphia; Morrie Schlaiffer, Omaha, and Johnny Mendelsohn, Milwaukee.

Besides losing the fight, Callahan forfeited $500 for being 3 1/4 pounds over the agreed weight of 149.

BAD WEATHER HALTS PLANS OF BALL CLUBS

Chicago, April 7.—(AP)—Squalls and chilly weather today defeated four major league baseball clubs while pilots fumed as they marked down to five the number of possible conditioning days left prior to the season's opening.

The St. Louis Cardinals ran into bad weather at Oklahoma City and with but one more exhibition on the pre-schedule trip, were unable to play. They wind up the practice series at Springfield, Mo., tomorrow.

At Memphis, Tenn., the Chicago White Sox were poured out of their second tilt with the local Southern association team and Collins and crew caught a train for Evansville, Ind., where they hope to play tomorrow.

The Cleveland Indians skidded around for a long practice session at New Orleans rather than pass up the work, but the going was slow and rain, cold or no cold, if there is no more rain. The club has been idle four days. Four games are on the Kansas City exhibition schedule.

The St. Louis Browns pounded out an 8-3 victory over the Nashville, Tenn., Southern association club. Wingo and Blue duplicated the home run act for the Detroit Tigers, who won, 6 to 3, from the Southern circuit team at Birmingham.

The Cincinnati Reds, carrying casualties in abundance, got next door to home on a long jump from the south which landed them in Louisville for two games with the Colonels, but were rained out today.

Phil Morrison Sold by Pirates Hughey Jennings Critically Ill

Owensboro, Ky., April 7.—(AP)—Phil Morrison, Owensboro, brother of Johnny Morrison, of the world's champion Pittsburgh Pirates, has been sold by the Pittsburgh club to the Indianapolis team of the American association, according to information received here tonight.

Morrison was ill last year and did not play ball. He was formerly with Birmingham in the Southern association. Morrison was turned over to the Indianapolis club at Hot Springs, Ark.

Asheville, N. C., April 8.—(AP)—Reports were not confirmed at the Winah sanitarium here this morning that Hughey Jennings, assistant coach of the New York Giants, a patient in the hospital with tuberculosis, was sinking or in a critical condition.

Wood from the sanitarium at an early hour this morning was that Jennings was progressing as satisfactorily as possible. His physician, it was stated, paid him the customary call yesterday afternoon. However, his physician could not be reached for a statement.

ALABAMA GOLF TEAM TO PLAY TECH LINKSMEN

BY BOB MATHERNE.
University, Ala., April 7.—Alabama's golf team will leave here tonight for matches Friday and Saturday against Georgia Tech and Georgia in Atlanta and Athens, respectively.

The Crimson got back from their trip to Tennessee in good shape and with the scalp of the Sewanee golfers on their hips. The win over Sewanee was the second of the year for Alabama's linksmen as they defeated Georgia in a match during the football season.

Glen Crisman, Southern amateur champion, and Bobby Baugh, Jr., runner-up in the conference just last year, will head the Alabama invasion of the two Georgia cities. Other members of the team are expected to be Bob L'hammes and Frank Blackford, well-known youngsters from Birmingham.

The Alabama team, as a team, has not lost a match this year, although they sustained one defeat at the hands of the Birmingham pros in a practice match.

Knowing the advantage that lies with those on their own home course, the Crimson youngsters intend "getting right" over in Atlanta and Athens this week-end. Then the play of Watts Gunn, with Tech, will be some handicap to the Crimson youngsters.

Since the advent of golf as a minor sport at the Capstone four years ago, Alabama's team has always been one of the best in Dixie. Her record in the three conference meets attest to this. Starting with the two Crisman brothers, whose places are now occupied by Crisman and Baugh, Alabama has been the team to beat for the championship and will be again this year if the other youngsters give Baugh and Crisman any aid.

New York, April 7.—(AP)—C. Suydam Cutting, of New York, today reached the finals of the national amateur court tennis tournament by defeating J. W. Appel, Jr., of New York, 6-1, 6-0, 6-3.

Wright, of Philadelphia, 6-4, 6-4, 7-5. The winner in the final round will gain the right to challenge the present holder of the title, Jay Gould.

Former Heavyweight Champion Is Given New Chance at Title

Promoter John Contos Forced To Guarantee Nebraska Grappler $7,500 To Risk Crown in Atlanta.

Stanislaus Zbyszko, the aging Pole, who lost the world's wrestling championship last May 30 to Joe Stecher at St. Louis, will get an opportunity to win back that crown in Atlanta next Tuesday night when the two will meet in a two-hour limit match, two falls out of three, at the city auditorium. Promoter John Contos announced that Zbyszko accepted terms for the match early Wednesday. Seats for the first world's championship mat struggle for Atlanta fans will be placed on sale Saturday at Routsos' cafe, Piedmont Hatters and Chess' place.

The match is one for which wrestling promoters all over the country have been trying. It is a bout which would pack any auditorium in the United States where wrestling is popular.

Zbyszko lost the world's title to Stecher at St. Louis, according to his own story, quite by accident. He had maneuvered the Nebraska into a position where he attempted to clamp on the flying mare, the favorite hold of the Polish veteran. His hands missed Stecher's head, however, and he fell into the deadly Stecher body scissors.

Stecher's favorite hold is the body scissors. Once he clamps it on it is almost impossible for any wrestler to break it. He exerts enormous and punishing power with such a grip. He has trained his legs until they are huge barrels of muscles by working the scissors hold on sacks of grain.

It was necessary for Promoter Contos to guarantee Stecher $7,500 before the champion would agree to risk his crown. Zbyszko is coming to gamble with the attendance. After Stecher has received his bit of the house "the old man" will be paid if there is anything left.

Two other bouts of interest will be staged. Promoter Contos announced. These will be made public within a day or so.

INSTALLMENT XL

DONOVAN GROWS OBSTINATE.

Hilary opened the door for Celia, and watched her slowly mounting the shallow stairway.

"Lord! What horrible things 'scenes' are," he muttered, as he turned back, closing himself in with peace once more. He smiled acidly. "I might as well be really married," he reflected.

Then all his compassion for this queerest of queer girls flooded him again and he wished that he could simplify matters by pommeling Padraic O'Shea within an inch of his life and kicking him into the streets.

Going instead to his writing table, he called up Maestro Giannini and asked him to come for a half an hour of fencing.

Celia felt that she couldn't put off any longer Donovan know that she was awake, and as much as she wanted to be alone just then, she wanted even more to have her hair unbound and brushed. Her scalp had such a hot, stiff feeling, just as though it had been patted on her skull with hot glue. She really couldn't think with any clearness while her head felt like that, and she must think clearly, as well as quickly.

Three days—she had only three days in which both to think and act. Why hadn't she asked for a week? But perhaps he wouldn't have granted her a week. After all, it would be better to get through with it in a short time.

She opened the communicating door into her sitting room and said: "I'm awake, Nurse, will you please come and brush my hair?"

Donovan entered with a look of grim disapproval on her flat, hard-bitten face. Her tone, too, was reproachful.

"Now, Miss," said she, "what call had you to go and dress yourself, and me sitting close by all morning and afternoon? It would seem like you want to be sick again. You look something awful," she wound up with a milder expression, as she took in Celia's deathly pallor and the mauve shading about her eyes. "You really hadn't ought to have got up at all."

She wanted to undress her and put her promptly to bed again, but Celia insisted she couldn't lie still until her hair was brushed.

"As for that, I can brush it and you in your bed, where you ought to be," said Donovan.

But knowing Celia's stubborn side of old, she didn't keep on insisting, and having got her out of the black velvet and into a peignoir, began to take out the big shell hair pins that by now seemed to Celia each one as large and heavy as a pair of fire-tongs.

"Tell me, nurse," she said again, "were you ever in love?"

"O, that's good, Nurse... that's good..." she kept murmuring, as Donovan's accustomed fingers first carded out the long masses, then began to pass the comb gently through them.

"O Nurse! You can't think how delicious it is..." she said aloud, wishing to stop these unpleasant thoughts. "...it's better than all the medicine in the world..."

But the word "medicine" had brought up the corollary "food" to Donovan's mind, which had set its still machinery to regard Celia as a "patient."

The soothing comb stopped halfway down a tress, and was lifted out and laid firmly on the dressing table.

"But why," asked Celia, fretfully.

She knew that Donovan was quite as obstinate as she was, when the mood took her, that she had some reason for stopping and wouldn't continue until she saw fit.

"Have you had one single bite to eat since you woke up?" demanded Donovan, stepping from her place behind Celia's chair, so that she could look into her face.

"No, but really I can't eat..."

"Yes, you can," said the other flatly. "And until you do, not another stroke of comb or brush do you get from me, Miss."

Celia felt too weak and dispirited to argue, so without further demur she let Donovan depart for a bottle of certified milk and some rye bread.

Resting her elbows on the dressing table, she set her chin upon her palms and looked sadly at her image in the mirror.

"I'm really very ugly—when I'm not dressed in those lovely clothes he designs for me," thought she. "And I haven't any gifts—I'm not even clever. Why should he have been so kind to me? And why does Padraic love me? Then I'm lazy, too—except for swimming and walking—I've never done anything worth doing in my life..."

She recalled her venture at the Slegurg theater.

"...I made some money—I could do that again. But anybody can make money, I suppose, if they set their minds on it..."

The larger of the psychoanalysts was familiar to her, as it was just becoming a fad then in her "social circle," but she knew that what she was suffering from was no "inferiority complex." It was the truth, simple and plain.

"By nature she was inferior, not by vain imaginings."

"I didn't use to care whether any one loved me or not—I wonder why I should have begun to care."

She looked questioning at her image, which looked questioningly back at her. There was no answer.

Donovan returned with the milk and bread. Celia ate quickly, anxiously to feel the soothing comb in her hair again.

"There, now," said Donovan, taking the tray from her when she had finished. "I promise I'll brush and comb you a solid hour, if you want I should."

"Please," said Celia.

As Donovan was fulfilling this promise Celia began to study the reflection of the stern face which now appeared above her own in the mirror.

"Nurse," she asked suddenly, "was I drunk last night?"

"Lor, Miss! What a word to use!" exclaimed the other, scandalized.

"Of course, you wasn't."

"I believe I was," said Celia, "but I suppose you won't tell me the truth."

"I ain't going to tell you what ain't so, just because you think it's so," said Donovan stubbornly.

Celia sighed and gave it up. She was more and more convinced that the champagne had gone to her head, and that she had said horrid, shameful things which, of course, Hilary wouldn't admit that she had said.

She felt to studying her nurse's face once more. The mouth was a lipless line, and the gray eyes vitreous, yet when Donovan smiled, which was very seldom, her face became kindly and even humorous. The humor didn't go with the kindly look, though such specimens as Celia had heard were of a grim, somewhat sardonic nature.

"She must have had lips when she was young," thought Celia. "Perhaps they were red, too."

Donovan's one claim to good looks was her smooth, pearly, rose-tinted complexion, which had kept its purity in spite of many thread-like wrinkles. Her hair was just color, very fine and thin. Celia tried hard to imagine her a young woman, but in vain. Ever since she could remember Donovan had always looked like this.

"Tell me, Nurse," she said again, "were you ever in love?"

Donovan stopped brushing, and a look of supreme disdain pinched her mouth and the nostrils of her tight little nose still more.

"I always did hold that that was the silliest expression," said she. "Talking of being 'in love,' as if love was a bath or a box—or a fix," she concluded tartly.

Boydton-Davis Wedding Marks Epoch in Social Brilliance

Leading the list of many beautiful weddings scheduled to take place during April and marking an epoch in social brilliance was the marriage of Miss Martha Allen Boydton to Oscar Goldsmith Davis which was solemnized at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening at Trinity Methodist church. A large and fashionable assemblage of southern society witnessed the ceremony, the marriage service being read by Dr. S. R. Belk, a former pastor of the church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Boydton, prominent and influential citizens of Atlanta, and her marriage to Mr. Davis unites two of the best-known and best-loved families of Georgia.

Simplicity was the keynote of the decorations in the handsome church, masses of stately Easter lilies, denoting purity, adorning the altar. Massive silver candelabra holding white cathedral candles interspersed the tropical background of palms and ferns which banked the chancel, and they alternated with tall floor vases filled with lilies. The pews reserved for the families were marked by large fluffy bows of white satin ribbons topped by clusters of handsome Easter lilies arranged in sheath effect. Garlands of southern smilax formed a delicate tracery against the opalescent shades of the ceiling lights and festooned the central chandeliers.

Nuptial Music.

Preceding the entrance of the bride into the church, Hugh Hodgson, noted southern musician, rendered a special program of nuptial music, the beautiful numbers including: Prelude by Saul; Adagio by Pleyel; Wachs' Pastorale; Chopin's Nocturne; Berceuse by Crookes; Wedding Music by Soldermann; and Wagner's Dreams. Wagner's wedding march from "Lohengrin" was used as the processional and Mendelssohn's wedding march as the recessional.

The bridesmaids and groomsmen entered singly down opposite aisles of the church, the bridesmaids being Mrs. Clark Howell, Jr., Mrs. William A. Parker, Mrs. Edw. Burke, Mrs. Jesse Harper Erwin, of Durham, N. C.; Mrs. Eugene McNeil, of Marietta; Miss Virginia Campbell and Miss Katherine Haverly. They were all gowned in fashionable models of gray shell-pink tulle, each gown being fashioned differently according to the newest modes and to suit the individuality and type of the wearer. They wore pink satin slippers and carried matching their gowns and carried gorgeous arm bouquets of pastel shaded snapdragons, sweet peas, stasias daisies, lilies, roses and swains. The bride wore a gown of white satin with a band of white tulle which was finished at the edges with a small design in pearl embroidery. A bow-knot of orange blossoms formed an effective finish at the extreme end of the train. The bridal veil was of filmy tulle arranged in a becoming fashion and adjusted to her hair with a beaded of rose point lace. Completing the charming ensemble was a bouquet of flesh-tinted orchids and valley lilies showered with narrow white satin ribbons.

The groom had as his best man his father, Oscar Davis. Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Boydton entertained at an elaborate reception at the Piedmont Driving club. Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Boydton and the bride a groom were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Davis.

The handsome ballroom of the club presented a scene of fairy-like charm with its decorations of myriads of fragrant spring flowers showing the Dresden tints, the receiving party standing before a bower formed of palms and ferns and studded with Easter lilies. High floor standards filled with multi-colored flowers stood in relief against this background. The length of the ballroom were twined with garlands of smilax and wreaths of pastel flowers, the ceiling lights being softly veiled with the same arrangement of flowers and smilax.

Bride's Table.

The bride's table was placed at the far end of the ballroom before the fireplace which was banked with palms and ferns, the buffet tables at the sides of the room having similar backgrounds. Centering the exquisitely appointed table was a large mound of choice spring blossoms, including roses, snapdragons, tulips, lilies, sweet peas and valley lilies, showing all the Dresden shades. At either end of the table were smaller mounds of flowers, like the centerpiece, with tall white wedding tapers placed at intervals. An unusually lovely feature of the table decorations were the beautifully lined wedding cups with mirrored bases which were placed at intervals and filled with orange blossoms, valley lilies and orchids. Other pretty details of the table were white candy baskets filled with frosted grapes and mints.

Seated at the table with the members of the bridal party were the husbands of the young matrons acting as bridesmaids, and Mr. and Mrs. William Britt, of Thomaston; Mr. and Mrs. William Huger, Dr. and Mrs. W. L. McDougald, Dr. and Mrs. Lauren Goldsmith, Miss Estelle Boydton, Mrs. Jennie Johnson Atkins, Miss Callie Orme, Miss Harriet Shelden.

During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Davis left for New York from where they will sail on Saturday for Bermuda. On their return they will make their home in Atlanta.

The bride traveled in a smart ensemble costume of navy blue crepe metal threads and finished with a collar of summer ermine. A becoming French hat of navy blue Ban kohl completed the attractive toilet.

TWO WOMEN FOUND HELP

By Reading Experiences of Other Women

Mrs. Nina Matteson, Box 206, Oxford, N. Y., writes:—If it had not been for your medicine, I could not have done my work as it should have been done. Mother told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I had read in different papers what it had done for different women.

She wanted me to try it, so my husband got me one bottle at first; then I took two others. Now I am feeling quite strong again.

Mrs. Ernest Tanguay of Adams, Mass., says she was ill for four years and could not sleep nights or go out on the street. She read about the Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking eight bottles she was able to do all her work and go anywhere and is quite herself again.

This dependable Vegetable Compound is a household word in thousands of homes. The fourth generation is now learning the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If this medicine has helped other women, why shouldn't it help you? At your druggist's.

The 2 Rules

for using make-up safely on your skin

By NORMA TALMADGE

Copyright, 1926, by P. O. Beauty Features

Do this if powder or rouge ever touches your face. Note then the great difference that comes

COUNTLESS women make the great mistake of letting make-up remain on their faces over night. Poor complexion thus often comes. Yet, used rightly, powders, rouge and make-up will not injure. The rules for make-up as used by women of the stage and urged by skin authorities are these: just careful cleansing of make-up accumulations from the pores with the gentle lather of Palmolive Soap in the following way:

RULE 1
Cleanse the Skin First
Never apply powder or rouge to an unclean, dusty skin, or to an oily skin. That is ruinous. It results in that artificial made-up look you dislike. Dampen a cloth in warm water, work up a mild lather of Palmolive and go over your face lightly with it, then rinse with cold water. . . then apply your make-up. Just see the difference this will make.

RULE 2
Never Let Make-Up Stay On Over Night
Powders, rouge and all cosmetics have a tendency to clog the pores. . . often to enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. Never let make-up stay on over night. This is all-important, a fundamental in correct skin care. . . Follow these rules. You'll never look made-up. Your skin will be soft and lovely. And as the months roll by, you'll need fewer cosmetics. Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same. BE SURE YOU GET THE REAL PALMOLIVE

Remember that before Palmolive came, women were told, "use no soap on your faces." Soaps then were judged too harsh. Palmolive is a beauty soap made for one purpose only: to safeguard your complexion. 60 years of soap study stand behind it. Millions of pretty skins prove its effectiveness beyond all doubt.
It costs but 10c the cake!—so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain Palmolive today. Note what one week of its use brings you. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois.

Feels Years Younger

"FOR SOME time past, I was in a terribly nervous condition," says Mrs. W. A. Jeffress, of El Dorado, Ark.

"I could not sleep at night. I was not only 'all to pieces' nervously, but I had several other things the matter and the real cause was womanly weakness.

"The least little exercise upset me. I could not walk far without having to lie down afterwards. This condition went on and on. I got so bad off I could not do my housework.

"On a friend's advice, I got a bottle of Cardui, and began to take it. In a very short time, I began to feel myself growing better. The first thing I noticed was that I could sleep so much better at night.

"My other troubles began to disappear and gradually I grew stronger. After several months, I felt myself a new woman and now I feel years younger than I did this time last summer."

Sure Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this get two ounces of calomel powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads lightly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that are in the pores of the skin. The calomel powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.—(adv.)

Things to Know Before Baby Comes

THE expectant mother's comfort and well being is very important. And one of the most important things for her to do is to use Mother's Friend to keep the skin and muscles soft and pliable—thus aiding the tissues and muscles to relax and adjust themselves to the changes during motherhood. Mother's Friend is the formula of an eminent physician and has been used by expectant mothers for over three generations. No woman awaiting the joy of motherhood should allow the days to pass without using Mother's Friend.

Mrs. Laura Hendrix, Gracemont, Okla., writes: "I used Mother's Friend with all my babies and I think it is the grandest help that has ever been discovered for expectant mothers. I can't say too much for it."

Mother's Friend is safe for you to use because it contains no harmful drugs and is applied externally. Mother! Insist on Mother's Friend—the same as used by our mothers and grandmothers—don't wait—start using tonight!—and meanwhile write Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. 31, Atlanta, Ga., for free valuable booklet "Motherhood and the Coming Baby" (sent in plain envelope). It tells how Mother's Friend can help you during expectancy and at childbirth. This booklet also tells you many other things you want to know. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all druggists—everywhere.

Mrs. McAlpin was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. Sam McGarry; her aunt, Mrs. Sallie Gilen; Mrs. George Dayle, Mrs. Robert Schmore.
